Management Major

Are you interested in leading others in teams and organizations? Do you enjoy different cultures and organizational environments? A major in management might be a good choice. At Suffolk, you’ll have your choice of areas in which to study including negotiations, conflict resolution, diversity, small business, and change management.

Management Learning Goals

Within a context of awareness of global factors, ethics, and self, management majors develop and refine essential business skills across four main areas.

Careers

Management majors may pursue careers in consulting, manufacturing, financial services, healthcare services, retail, transportation, technology, government, and not-for-profit organizations. The demand for managers with these skills is high and will grow higher as firms continue to recognize that they compete not only with new products, good marketing, and skillful finance, but also with unique competence in leading individuals in teams to achieve results.
